THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Mayor Rowe is notified of its meeting here next year.

Mayor A. P. Rowe yesterday received the following official notification from Gen. Horatio C. King, Recording Secretary of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, of the action of that body in naming Fredericksburg as the place for holding its next annual meeting in October, 1900:

Headquarters Society of the Army of the Potomac, Brooklyn Borough, N. Y. City, October 15, 1899.

Hon. A. P. Rowe, Mayor, etc., Fredericksburg, Va.

My Dear Sir:—It gives me very great pleasure to inform you that at the meeting held in Pittsburg on the 10th instant of this Society, Fredericksburg was unanimously chosen as the place for its next reunion.

The fortunate presence of your representative, Hon. James B. Sener, served to remove the doubts still lingering in the minds of some that your most hospitable city would be unable to adequately provide for all who will probably attend.

The Army of the Potomac hope and will expect to see you at that occasion the veterans of the heroic Army of Northern Virginia and talk over the incidents which have made your section forever memorable in the annals of American valor.

Cordially yours, Horatio C. King, Rec. Sec.

Mr. Robinson B. Wrenn, one of the veteran contractors of Washington, died in that city Thursday night.

Mr. Wrenn enjoyed splendid health until about a month ago, when he began to fail. Since then his life was gradually until his death. Stomach troubles were the cause.

Mr. Wrenn was born at Fredericksburg, Va., Jan. 21, 1824. He was in two wars, having served under Gen. Zachary Taylor and Winfield Scott, in Mexico, and also in the Commissary Department of the Confederate Army.

After the war, he moved to Alexandria with his family, and resided there until 1878, when he changed his residence to Georgetown.

Mr. Robinson Wrenn was a son of the late Lewis Wrenn, of this city.

Ex-Mayor H. S. Doggett Dead.

After an illness of some weeks, Capt. Hugh S. Doggett, one of our best known and most prominent citizens, died at his home here at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. The deceased was born in Spotsylvania, May 11, 1816, and was consequently in the 84th year of his age. By appointment of Judge John T. Goolrick, he succeeded the late Dr. L. B. Rose as Mayor of Fredericksburg in April, 1877, and was twice elected to the same office by the people, serving until July 1, 1880. He commanded Company B, 30th Virginia Regiment, during the civil war and was provost marshal of this city the last year of the war.

Capt. Doggett was a successful business man, and during his long career as a merchant acquired considerable property. At the time of his death he was the senior member of the firm of Doggett & Scott, of this city, a director in the National Bank, past master of Fredericksburg Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M., and a vestryman of St. George's Episcopal Church. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. William Scott, of this city.

Immediately after the morning service at St. George's Church Sunday a meeting of the vestry was called and the following resolutions passed:

The vestry of St. George's Church desiring officially to express its sense of sympathy and sorrow on the announcement of the death of Capt. Hugh S. Doggett, one of the oldest in years of this associated body, hereby enters of record its testimonial of respect for the high character, sound judgment and Christian sincerity of the deceased during a long and honorable life; and the reciprocal emotions of sadness on the part of each of its members with his family at their great loss.

The vestry further enters of record that its members will attend the funeral of Capt. Doggett in a body and direct the Registrar of the Vestry to send a copy of this memorial minute to the bereaved household.

The funeral services were held from St. George's Church yesterday evening at 4 o'clock, which were conducted by Rev. W. D. Smith, the rector.

Mayor Rowe called a meeting of the City Council at 8 o'clock and it was resolved that it attend as a body.

Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M., conducted the services at the City Cemetery, where the interment was made in the family lot. The pall bearers were: Active—Messrs. Hugh D. Scott, Sydney Scott and William D. Scott, grandsons of the deceased; Dr. A. C. Doggett, a nephew; Mr. T. N. Cunningham, husband of his grand-daughter, and Mr. T. N. Brent, a near relative.

Honorary—Messrs. J. J. Young, Capt. James S. Knox, J. H. Myer, Sr., Capt. C. W. Wallace, Major Thomas P. Wallace and St. Geo. R. Fitzhugh.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the National Bank of Fredericksburg, Virginia, held on the 16th day of October, 1899, the following minute was unanimously adopted:

The death of the late instant, in his eighty-fourth year, of our esteemed friend and colleague, Hugh S. Doggett, has filled our hearts with sorrow, sadly remembering that we shall no more have his counsel and aid.

His long association with us, his successful career, his high character and sterling integrity to his successful operation. Of earnest convictions himself, he was liberal to those differing with him, nor did he allow such differences to interfere with the cordial relations which he ever cultivated with his colleagues. His death is indeed a great loss and brings to each member of the Board a feeling of personal bereavement.

Sympathizing deeply with his mourning family, we have

Resolved, That the above be entered on our minutes; that the officials of this bank attend the funeral of our deceased friend in a body; that a copy of these minutes be sent to his family and furnished the city papers for publication.

A true copy.
Board of Directors,
J. Arthur Taylor, Secretary.

Army of the Potomac at Pittsburg, Pa.

The Pittsburg Commercial Gazette of last Friday says:

"With a banquet at the Hotel Schenck last night the thirtieth annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Potomac came to an end.

Gen. Orlan D. Smith, acting going president of the society, acted as toastmaster.

Early in the evening it was known that two of the prominent men programmed to speak would not be present, and the news was something of a disappointment. Gen. Stone was expected to deliver an address on "The Keystone State," as the official representative of the commonwealth, but was called away early yesterday morning by important official business. He expressed his deep regret to the committee before leaving and hoped to address the society at some future time. Hon. James B. Sener, of Fredericksburg, Va., was to have responded to the toast "The American Soldier," but was called away a few minutes before the hour for the banquet by a telephone message from his home. Judge Sener is competent to speak on the subject and was here yesterday, but he was called away a few minutes before the hour for the banquet by a telephone message from his home. Judge Sener is competent to speak on the subject and was here yesterday, but he was called away a few minutes before the hour for the banquet by a telephone message from his home.

Death of Judge Harris.

For the last six years he had not been in good health, and since the first week in August he had declined rapidly. A widow, three sons and four daughters survive him.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Mr. S. E. Pitts Chosen For the House of Delegates in Caroline.

A more harmonious and enthusiastic convention was, perhaps, never held by any political party than that which assembled at Bowling Green last Saturday. The previous day delegates were elected at all the precincts in Caroline county. They came to Bowling Green Saturday determined to make a nomination; and from the time County Chairman E. L. R. Dunn called the convention to order, at 12:35 o'clock, until adjournment, at 1:35 o'clock, not a jar or word of discord was injected into the proceedings.

After the chairman stated the object of the meeting, the usual temporary organization and the appointment of committees on credentials, resolutions, etc., were dispensed with, and the following roll of delegates was read and by resolution they were declared entitled to seats in the convention:

Sparta—Thos. Johnson, W. R. Young, Shumansville—J. F. Covington, Joseph Banks.

Reedy Church—E. M. Coleman, R. H. Thomas.

Port Royal—T. S. Henshaw, W. B. Reeves.

Moss Neck—B. J. Johnson, E. B. Pendleton.

Gouldman's—Joseph Bessels, John B. Wright.

Needwood—W. J. Courtney, Anthony Pierce.

Baltz—Robert Beverley, Geo. R. Asa, Guinea's—A. J. Williamson, Zebulon Minor.

Madison—Joshua Hailstork, J. G. White.

White's—Eugene Micou, Lawrence Morton.

The delegates of Cedar Fork were not present.

The convention then proceeded to permanent organization, and Robert Beverley was elected chairman and E. M. Coleman secretary.

At this juncture E. L. R. Dunn asked the privilege of retiring from the convention as a delegate in favor of W. C. Digges. This was granted; and after the adoption of a resolution offered by London Myers, limiting nominating speeches to ten minutes, Mr. Digges arose and in a spirited speech, which was greeted with an outburst of enthusiastic applause, placed in nomination Mr. Samuel E. Pitts, of Sparta, whom he represented as a man whose character is above reproach, loved by his friends, respected by his enemies, with a keen and high sense of honor, with business capacity second to none, possessing all the qualifications to make a successful candidate and a useful legislator. He predicted his triumphant election by from 500 to 1,000 majority, and closed with the statement: "By nominating such a man as Samuel E. Pitts you do honor to yourselves."

London Myers, Joseph Banks and A. J. Williamson made seconding speeches highly eulogistic of Mr. Pitts.

On motion of Joshua Hailstork, speaking was closed, and Mr. Pitts was, by unanimous vote, made the nominee of the convention.

The chairman appointed as a committee to wait upon Mr. Pitts and invite him before the convention J. G. White, W. C. Digges and J. W. Parso.

While waiting for Mr. Pitts several colored delegates made brief speeches along the same line as those previously made by London Myers and others, that the colored men of Caroline would on election day show to the world the falsity of the charge that they are always on the auction block. They all predicted the election of Mr. Pitts by a very large majority, some saying that his majority would be the largest any man in the county ever received for this office.

As the committee entered with Mr. Pitts three deafening cheers were given their candidate. As soon as quiet was restored Mr. Pitts said:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: When two years ago you saw proper to honor me in a similar manner, my health and business arrangements forbade my acceptance. But now, when you so honor me again, when, thanks to Providence, my health has been restored, I feel most deeply grateful for the honor you have conferred upon me, and as you have made me your standard-bearer I shall do all in my power to carry our flag to victory, and, if elected, whatever zeal and energy I may have shall be used in the discharge of my legislative duties. Thanking you again for so honoring me, I proudly and gratefully accept your nomination."

When the cheering that followed the speech subsided, on motion of T. S. Henshaw, the convention was turned into a mass-meeting of all Republicans present, and the nomination of Mr. Pitts was ratified amid scenes that led one of the delegates to characterize it as a "love feast."

THE NOMINEE.

Mr. Pitts is a wealthy and influential citizen. He is a very successful business man, and conducts a large mercantile enterprise at Sparta. For many years he has been prominently identified with the Republican party of Caroline, and part of the time county chairman.

Death of Mr. James Ryan.
Mr. James Ryan, a well-known and respected citizen, noted for his integrity, died suddenly of heart trouble Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock at his home, on upper Main street, in the 70th year of his age. He ate a hearty supper the night before and retired as usual, and was not taken sick more than half an hour before he died. He leaves six grown children—Mrs. Thomas Ryan, of Delaware; Mr. John Ryan, Mrs. Wm. Fitzpatrick, Misses Bettie, Fannie and Nellie Ryan, of this city.

The remains were interred from the Catholic church, of which the deceased was a member, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Father Coleman officiating. The pall bearers were Capt. T. McCracken, William Jefferson, John M. Griffin, C. A. Gore, M. J. Gately and Edward Cain.
